LGD-4033 is a SARM that can bind to receptors (mainly the receptors in muscles and bones) and attach to receptors, which greatly increases the body's anabolic capacity. LGD- 4033 is also anti-catabolic and may be used to prevent muscle wasting.

Studies have shown that LGD-4033 can have a significant effect on bone deterioration and bone strengthening (as mentioned earlier, LGD-4033 can also bind to receptors in bones, not only in the muscles, so it also has an effect on the bones)

LGD-4033 can be used at any stage, it is difficult to compare the efficacy of LGD-4033 to various anabolic as SARMS are still relatively new to the market, but the effects are indeed strong. Significant strength gains and muscle mass gains can be obtained during muscle building without causing side effects such as water storage, which means that the muscle gains brought about by LGD-4033 are completely lean body mass gains

During fat loss, the primary use of LGD-4033 is to preserve lean muscle mass. When you want to lose fat, you have to go into a caloric deficit in your diet, where you burn more calories than you take in, which can cause muscle tissue to break down without protective agents, regardless of your genetics How superior, how talented, some muscle loss is inevitable during fat loss, LGD-4033 attaches a powerful SARM to the body by increasing the body's anabolic capacity, which can help retain muscle during fat loss tissue while improving muscle mass, and some data also suggest that LGD-4033 also promotes fat loss to some extent.

LGD-4033 also increases muscular endurance, especially when combined with other SARMS, and it is unclear how much LGD-4033 affects muscular endurance when used alone.
